Rev'd Michelle writes

Welcome to December and one of the busiest times of the year. There is so much going on this month. I encourage you to look at the various pages in this magazine to find out more about what is happening and then to get involved as much as you can. There is surely something to appeal to everyone – from fun Christingle services, a traditional ‘Yorkshire Christmas’ carol service, opportunities to sing carols in the community, our Advent reflective services, traditional midnight communion service and much else besides.

Of course, December spans both the Advent and the Christmas seasons. I do encourage you therefore not to not rush too quickly into the joy of Christmas, but to take time to step back and reflect and prepare your heart and mind for the coming of the Christ Child, the word made flesh. Christmas really is the moment that changes our world for ever as we remember that God came to earth and made his home among us in the birth of Jesus. Our Advent reflections will help you to do this. There will be one at St Matthew’s on Thursday 11th December and one at St John’s on Thursday 18th December both at 7pm. Why not see if you can make time in your busy December diary to attend both. Good preparation and the discipline of waiting always makes the main event more special.

So as we journey through December together, may I wish you a blessed Advent and may you know the peace of the Christ Child when Christmas comes again.

With my prayers and every blessing

PRAYER PAGE

Do you have a favourite prayer, or have you come across a special prayer recently which you'd like to share?

This month's prayer is a bit different, as we remember that Jesus was also once a refugee in Egypt.

A Prayer for Refugees

Lord Jesus,

You were born into this world with nothing.
Help us not to jealously guard what we have.

You escaped the wrath of Herod and went to Egypt as a baby.
Help us protect those forced to flee their home.

You had no family, money or place to rest your head on earth.
Help us to welcome those currently staying in shelters and hostels.

You declared yourself to be the way of life.
Help us to remember that we are all temporary dwellers on this earth.

You were killed outside the city walls.
Help us be a city of sanctuary for those who hope to live here.

You left your home in heaven to share your life with humankind.
Help us give thanks for the gifts migrants and refugees bring to our communities.

You are with us in the face of the hungry, the naked and the stranger.
Help us receive you gladly with all our hearts here in Rastrick

Lord Jesus, refuge of every tribe, and people, and nation,
Help us, save us, and have mercy on us.

Amen

PEOPLE ARE GIFTS

With perhaps the most popular gift-giving season approaching; here is a lovely poem, found by Margaret.

People are Gifts

The gifts You give me are people, Lord.

Gifts for a moment, or the years of my life,
all from You, reflections of You if I but look.

Each with a dignity, a worth, imprinted with Your hand,
Your image clearly carved upon their being.

Behind each eye, each mask, within each package, beyond all hiding and all camouflage, a precious one to be handled with the greatest care and sensitivity

- a gift beyond all price, never to be damaged or rejected or abused

- a gift unlike all other gifts.

A gift to love protect and cherish with wonder and with awe;

A gift of God.

MU MATTERS

Mothers' Union Matters,
Join us, join in.....we are changing lives.

We will be serving coffee and cake on the 13th December down at St John's. This will incorporate our usual Christmas goodies stall of cakes, wrapping paper, gift tags and mince pies etc. and as last year will be at the back of church. The stall will then continue the following day 14th December. Please do support us and let's make it a wonderful celebration as Christmas approaches.

A gentle reminder, next year is 150 years since Mary Sumner started the Mothers Union. We will be arranging our own celebrations yet to be discussed so watch this space!! However, there are national celebrations and these are as follows: -

The Provincial 150 years celebration service will take place on Saturday the 14th March 2026 at Manchester Cathedral at 2,30 pm. Evelyn, our Diocesan President, will have more details from the conference she is attending on the 27th/28th October. As soon as we have these, we will pass them on.

On the 10th June 2026 there will be a service at St Pauls Cathedral in London at 5pm. Tickets need to be booked for this. If you wish to go my understanding is please see Julia or Jennifer.

11th June 2026 10.30 to 4.30 is the Annual gathering at Emmanuel Centre (next to Mary Sumner House).

Last month, here at St John's, Carol Paget came to our meeting to demonstrate how to make winter flower arrangements. As usual she produced a beautiful array of contrasting displays of winter blooms and leaves which she kindly made available for our funds.

There are so many ways in which each member of our branch can feel included in its ideas and smooth running of whatever we do; for example, we have rotas for refreshments, reading or Intercessions at our services. Also, suggestions are welcomed for events and speakers at our various meetings. The Mothers' Union is represented both locally and worldwide. It is inclusive in welcoming everyone who cares about helping and supporting family life. Please come and visit us and see what you could offer, and receive, from being a member of our local branch at St Johns.

We wish all our Mothers Union members at home and abroad, together with churches around the world, a Peaceful and Joyful Christmas.

May we all be surrounded by God's Blessing and reach out as His hands to everyone in need.

Feeling very grateful to everyone who has filled and provided a shoe box, packed with toys and goodies for children this Christmas, who are in need of love and joy, in parts of the world where there is little of both.

Happiness is well on its way....

Many thanks once again.

ECO CHURCH

We're dreaming of a "Green Christmas"

Here are 10 ideas

1. Choose a gift that lasts. This Christmas purchase items that the recipient really wants with value, purpose and meaning. Think less, but better.
2. Shop locally. Small and independent businesses need all the support they can get this year so, where possible, buy your gifts, cards and decorations locally.
3. Switch to eco-friendly wrapping paper. Look for wrapping paper made from 100% recycled or FSC-certified paper. Avoid plastic ribbons, tape, foil-backed and glittery wrapping paper. Choose cards that you can recycle (no shiny bits). Save and re-use paper for next year. Use brown paper which is easily recycled and pretty up with ribbons saved from previous years.
4. Christmas trees. Opt for a potted one which can last a life-time. If you buy a new fake Christmas tree it will take 10 years of use to make it environmentally worthwhile so keep it and use it every year. (Ours is 36 years old and still looking OK despite being used as an indoor climbing frame by several cats!)
5. If you are buying new Christmas lights switch to LEDs. They use up to 80% less energy. And if you have to choose a battery powered item make sure you purchase rechargeable batteries (and recharge them in future).
6. Send fewer Christmas cards and just wish friends and family a heart-felt "Happy Christmas" and give the money saved to a charity. This year challenge yourself to send a card only if it's got a personal message inside.

7. Minimise food (and packaging) waste. A scary amount of food waste is created at Christmas, equivalent to 4.2 million plates of Christmas dinner going straight into the bin. Take steps to reduce your food waste by planning your food carefully, freezing leftovers and only buying what will be eaten. Consider reducing your meat consumption over the Christmas period by replacing some meals with vegetarian alternatives. Don't buy selection boxes either. They produce so much rubbish. Put a few carefully curated chocolate bars in a pre-used festive bag. Much cheaper too. On the same theme avoid those wasteful over-priced "gift" packs of toiletries. Make up your own personalised sets.

8. Re-wear your Christmas jumper etc. If you need new occasion wear buying second-hand saves on resources and cuts waste. It may benefit local charities too.

9. Give a gift that lasts this year. How about buying a membership to an organisation eg. RHS, RSPB, Yorkshire Wildlife Trust or even our very own local Nature Reserve – Cromwell Bottom.

10. Recycle well. When it comes to recycling your Christmas waste the most important thing to do is to check with your local authority what they will accept and what they won't. Look on the council's website and you should find the info you need. Some local authorities won't accept any wrapping paper, as much of it is of too poor quality to be able to recycle. Brown paper is ok, even if it has paint on it, but no glitter! Make sure you remove any tape (paper tape is ok) and ribbons/bows etc. The same applies to cards - if they have glitter on they can't be recycled. Some supermarkets have collection points for Christmas cards in the New Year which raise funds for the Woodland Trust, but again, no glitter! Foil from Christmas chocs has to be collected up into a ball about the size of a tennis ball for it to have a chance of being detected on the recycling line. Real trees can be recycled into wood chip and they are often collected by charities for a small charge.

ECO Extra - A cry for Planet Earth by John

Written after returning from a protest rally on November 15th in Leeds to coincide with the COP30 Sustainability talks in Brazil

*“No more gas, coal and oil,
Leave the carbon in the soil!”*

It felt good to shout at the top of my voice for an hour as we paraded through the drizzle, especially since I believed in the slogans. I find that rallies are very colourful spectacles at which the participants are good-humoured and friendly, united by a common cause.

The speakers afterwards included opponents of the Drax wood-burning power plant, accused of destroying virgin forests in North America whilst claiming to operate sustainably.

The programme organisers of COP30 are concerned to protect the rainforests. Once again, trees! We were entertained by the DiscObedience Dancers, who dressed as trees with the exception of one who played the role of chainsaw executioner!

The first speaker, Rev John Swales MBE, used to warn his listeners that the world must act now to avoid a climate catastrophe. We didn't act. Despite the crisis now at our door, he's committed to engaging with both climate deniers and victims, with Christian compassion. God hasn't stopped caring for our planet, neither must we. Indeed, God seeks to work out his redemptive purposes as fully as ever. That's why I was glad to take part.

Music News

*"Hark the glad sound! The Saviour comes,
The Saviour promised long;
Let every heart prepare a throne,
And every voice a song."*

There are plenty of opportunities for every voice to prepare a song this Advent and Christmas! ...and how wonderful to be able to reflect, praise and rejoice through singing!

In our church services, we'll be singing Advent and Christmas carols: As part of our Yorkshire Christmas (Carol) service on 21st, you will have the opportunity to listen to our own Rastrick Voices singing some well-known (and some not so well-known) carols, all with a Yorkshire connection, as well as singing some favourite congregational carols yourselves. I believe there may well be some dialect in the service. Come and be uplifted, and leave with a smile on your face.

On Christmas Eve, the extended Music Group will again provide the music for our two Christingles. Come and hear the Archdeacon on drums (!) and be moved by singing 'Away in a Manger' by candlelight, with simple flute accompaniment.

Come to our Midnight service on 24th, for a moving start to Christmas, including again, the singing of some favourite carols. Or join us on Christmas morning for our 11:00 Holy Communion - again, a good sing!

It would also be lovely if you could join us for our carol singing in the community, (see poster on page 25). Enjoy singing favourite carols while bringing the joy of Christmas to residents in our local care homes. All welcome!

Details of all services can be found earlier in the magazine.

Wishing you a meaningful Advent,
and a joyful (& musical) Christmas,

Pam

PUZZLE PAGE by the Bat in the Beltry

Christmas is coming, so I wish you all a Happy Christmas and New Year. If you have time between the mince pies, Christmas pudding and mulled wine try these two. One is something to make.

25 – 23 Christmas Decoration

As last year, here is a piece of Origami for you to make and put on your tree, courtesy of Rupert Bear. It's so simple that you could easily make enough to decorate a Christmas tree. Try it with different coloured papers about 8 inches square. (You'll need 2 pieces per decoration)

Fold the square to make a centre line AB(1), then take B up to A to give you (2). Fold edges AB and AC along the dotted lines to the centre, giving you (3). Now fold back the points A and B along the dotted lines. You have (4).

Bend the edges AB and AC towards each other so that the model looks like those in (5). Slot the points A into the pockets B to lock the two parts together.

Finally fix a hanging thread through the points. If you can make the two parts of different coloured papers, so much the better – or you could paint them. You might also try making the decoration in different sizes

25 – 24 Christmas around the World

Here are some questions about Christmas celebrations from different countries.

- 1) In which country are gifts bought to children on Epiphany Eve by a female Santa Claus named BEFANA ?
- 2) In which language is Christmas referred to as NADOLIG ?
- 3) What is GLOGG, traditionally served at Christmas in Sweden?
- 4) BOAS FESTAS is the Christmas greeting in which language?
- 5) In which country is COUGNOU a sweet bread served for Christmas breakfast ?

25 – 21 Do it by Numbers

1) 87 – If you turn the page upside down it is a straightforward sequence (86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91)

2) There's no missing £10. The math mixes amounts in an invalid way. The £270 already includes the bellboy's £20.

3) Use the formula:

$$\text{Circumference} = 2 \times \pi \times \text{Radius}$$

Where π is the famous number "pi" equal to 3.14159....

Before: Original Circumference = $2 \times \pi \times R$

After: Original Circumference + 10m = $2 \times \pi \times (R + \text{Gap})$

Subtracting the two:

$$10\text{m} = 2 \times \pi \times \text{Gap}$$

So, the Gap = $10\text{m} / (2 \times \pi) = 1.6\text{m}$ approximately

So a person could fit under it easily (though they might bump their head)

MORE NEXT MONTH

SHIRLEY... WHY I LOVE and FEAR CHRISTMAS.

The downside of Christmas for me is the fear of wondering what presents to buy. Not because I don't want to give but it is deciding what to give. I so want my present be the right choice. Unless I ask, and spoil the surprise, I am always anxious. Something to eat or drink is usually a safe bet, or a voucher; but here again, which kind of voucher, and money shows little imagination. I know in my heart it is the thought that counts in giving and receiving but, I have received lots of lovely gifts which sadly, and ashamedly, I still haven't used to their full potential, so I want to make the right choice when I am giving a present.

In spite of sharing this with you, I simply love Christmas! It still fills me with excitement. I love decorating our Christmas tree, a treasure that has been with our family for forty-four years! Prior to this, my husband would carry a real tree home for us and make it safe to decorate. However, when it became my responsibility, I found difficulty juggling with the height and balance in the process of erecting it. We soon found our artificial tree of similar height which each year is decorated with all the old sentimental baubles and memories, plus newer ones which are special to me.

I love meeting up with all my family together sharing our delicious Christmas fare, laughing and joking with each other as we pull crackers. Then the playing of silly and/or skilled games with forfeits and prizes, in a lovely warm atmosphere. I am encouraged to have a go at the most challenging things which causes great laughter to everyone. This is such a special gift for me.

Another precious gift given, was not wrapped in Christmas paper but it was given with so much love. It is quite possible you received this too with grateful thanks or you may have put it to one side for later and maybe you have rediscovered it now with great pleasure. It is at this special time of year we remember again receiving this gift of a tiny Baby. Born, not in wonderful, cosy surroundings but in a manger, cold and bare. He is a gift from God, still to be treasured, reminding us of His goodness to us. Also reminding us of other babies and families struggling at this time to find comfort and food and all the good things we take for granted I mentioned above. Perhaps whilst we are struggling to think of appropriate gifts for our families and friends, we could also think of a gift to give to the organisations who care for those in need, especially at Christmastime.

I hope also that I will be going again with some members of my family to a service at their local church. It is always packed full of families, from babies to oldies. The young members of the Sunday School and youth club dress appropriately to act a variation of the Nativity each year. They do it seriously but occasionally there will be a little member who has to be quickly rescued and guided into the correct place, much to the amusement of the congregation. This is always a good start for our Christmas together.

Although snow looks really pretty on Christmas cards, and the children have a fun time as they sledge and snowball fight, I am hoping for a clear journey down to the Midlands for my Christmas fun!

I pray we all share a blessed Christmas however celebrated.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS EVERYONE – Ho Ho Ho!!!

Shirley
